BUNCO MEN ROB

Grounds and Work an Old Game.

While one of the strangers was explaining the game to him again, a third man appeared. This man asked the German if he had $100, and when Rothenberg pulled out his roll of bills the money was grabbed from him. The third man pulled back the lapel of his coat, exhibiting an officer's star, at the same time saying that Rothenberg was under arrest. In the meantime the other two men escaped with the roll of bills and then the third man slipped away.

Rothenberg hurried to the Utah State bank, where he told L. M. Cannon, in German, what had happened. Mr. Cannon notified the police and Police Officer Kelley was detailed on the case, Rothenberg furnished a description of the men. The police believe they are members of a gang which has been working the refugee trains between Salt Lake and San Francisco.

Gang From the Coast.

Four alleged bunco men were arrested Tuesday and ordered to leave the city. Edna Adams, known to be a member of the same gang, was also given an hour's time to get out of the city. From the description, the police believe they are the men who dropped into Reno one day last week and "turned" a couple of "sure thing" games. The police received information from that source that they were headed for Salt Lake.

A new style of legging is to be used in the army. The quartermaster's department has been experimenting with leggings of various kinds for some time past with a view to an improvement on the present pattern. The legging which has finally been adopted and approved by the chief of staff is a few inches shorter than the present style without a flare and strap at the bottom. It laces like the present legging, but in front instead of on the side. It will in all probability be worn by the troops at Fort Douglas this summer.

L. H. Taylor, supervising engineer of the Truckee-Carson irrigations project, left yesterday for Hazen, Nev., where his headquarters are established, after assisting District Engineer George L.

sisting District Engineer George L. Swendsen in securing bids for a telephone line in connection with the Srtawberry valley project. Engineer W. H. Sanders accompanied him to the project, where he will take charge of some lines of the construction work.

The Truckee-Carson project, Mr. Taylor said, will not be completed for three or four years, but it is expected that water will be delivered to between 50,000 and 60,000 acres of new land in the vicinity of Carson City. The irrigation scheme is extensive and numerous reservoirs are in process of construction all through the mountains where the water can be impounded by the use of canal diverting it from the main streams. The object of this is to tap the natural reservoirs in Advance figures on the amount of food and other supplies that have been shipped out of Salt Lake to San Francisco have been obtained, and they tell their own story. Decree in Five Minutes.

A record was established in the district court of Butte recently in a divorce suit in which two Salt Lakers were the principals. The parties who sought relief through separation were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Symons. Mrs. Symons was formerly Miss Sadje Gindrup. The courtship commenced while the two young people were employed in a Salt Lake dry goods store, and their marriage was brought to an ending some few days ago, in Judge Dolan's court. The proceedings, including the hearing of proofs, evidence and granting of the decree, consumed but five minutes. At 2 o'clock a complaint against Harry Symons was filed by the attorney for the plaintiff. A few seconds later a demurrer to the complaint was filed by the attorney for the defendant. The defendant refused to plead further and his the attorney for the defendant. The de-fendant refused to plead further and his default was entered. Mrs. Symons took the stand and briefly narrated her trou-bles. She said she was married to the defendant in Salt Lake Jan. 4, 1896. She desired the decree upon claims of de-sertion. The entire hearing was private and consumed less than five minutes. To Mrs. Symons was awarded the custody of their one child, a girl almost 2 years old.
